

So what has Marcie been up to lately?

Contributed by Jacob Hodgson
Last Updated Thursday, 12 July 2007

Marcie gives countless hours of her time to children and aspiring musicians by volunteering at the Diaz Music Institute; a program that provides complimentary music lessons to the underprivileged the she feels have enormous talent as well as the Houston Independent School District. Marcie is part of an after school workshop that uses music and percussion to keep kids off the street and on the right track.